

Wisconsin 2002 Packet Switching Availability

2002 Reported Packet Switching

Packet switches are used for transferring large amounts of data quickly and efficiently. The packet switches shown are on the regulated side of the network. Additional packet switches are in place on the deregulated side of the network including those used by long distance carriers.

Map 1

January 2004
Public Service Commission